NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

The remarks by Dr. Corvisart, in our last Number, seem to call upon us for a correction which, once made, remits to Dr. Brinton to carry on any controversy they may otherwise be calculated to provoke. A reference to Dr. Brinton's Article will show that it is not a "critique" upon Dr. Corvisart, but a summary of the notes of experiments which, as a lecturer and physiologist, Dr. Brinton seems to have instituted, independently of all other authorities. On this ground, the facts he adduces were, and are, of great interest, quite irrespectively of their following Dr. Corvisart's procedure; which, indeed, Dr. Brinton is equally entitled to ask Dr. Corvisart to leave for his own. The chief fact he notices remains untouched—the large solution of albumen which is specific to the pancreatic infusion, but also specific to its putrefaction. The experimentum crucis by which Dr. Brinton shows this, requires a direct refutation; the more so, that it incidentally contradicts much (as to the effect of bruising the gland) advanced by Dr. Corvisart. Lastly, we must say that the brief notes of our English colleague, though they expressly avoid the literature of the subject, are no way chargeable with the ignorance of which Dr. Corvisart thoughtlessly accuses them. The date of Dr. Brinton's observations renders it impossible for them to have noticed the subsequent Article by Dr. Corvisart in the "Lancet" for June last, much less Dr. Meissner's Essay, in Henle and Pfeufer's "Zeitschrift," the Number containing which, in the ordinary course of transmission, only reached London in the middle of August.

Books and Periodicals published in Northern Europe and the German States, intended for our Journal, should be transmitted "For the Editor of the Dublin Quarterly Medical Journal, care of Messrs. Trübner and Co., London," through their Correspondents in the principal Towns on the Continent. Our Correspondents in France, Belgium, Italy, and Spain, are requested to communicate with us through "Doctor Higgins, 212, Rue Rivoli, Paris."

Books and Periodicals published in Northern Europe and the German States, intended for our Journal, should be transmitted "For the Editor of the Dublin Quarterly Medical Journal, care of Messrs. Trübner and Co., London," through their Correspondents in the principal Towns on the Continent. Our Correspondents in France, Belgium, Italy, and Spain, are requested to communicate with us through "Doctor Higgins, 212, Rue Rivoli, Paris."

The Lithographs which illustrate Dr. Williamson's paper having been executed and printed in London, an irregularity in the numbering of the Plates has occurred. They are referred to in our pages according to the numerical arrangement which they occupy in our present Volume, while the Lithographer has numbered them in the regular series as he printed them—I., II., III. Hence, the reference in the text to Plate VI. must be taken as referring to Plate I.; that to Plate VII. as to Plate II.; and that to Plate VIII. as to Plate III. The fourth Plate, referred to in the text as Plate IX., has not been executed by the Lithographer in time for our present Number, but will be given in our next. Plate V. is illustrative of the case of "gunshot wound of the small intestine," described at p. 355.

The binder will, therefore, place these five Plates as follows:—

Plate I. to face page 316.
Plate II. to face page 341.
Plate III. to face page 346.
Plate IV. to face page 354.
Plate V. to face page 355.
